

Black Family Development And Mental Health

Characteristics of Black Clients that Influence Utilization of Mental Health Services
Understanding the Black Family
Mental Health, Racism And Sexism
Primary Prevention Approaches to the Development of Mental Health Services for Ethnic Minorities task panel reports submitted to the president's commission on mental health
Peterson's Graduate Programs in the Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences
1996
Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research
The Help Book
Model Programs in Child and Family Mental Health
The Psychosocial Development of Minority Group Children
Second Symposium for Mental Health Professionals of Color, October 12-13, 1995, the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, MA
Spirituality and the Black Helping Tradition in Social Work
Multidimensional Ministry for Today's Black Family
Children's Mental Health
Blacks in Corrections
Black Newspapers
Index
Marriage and Family Development
The Journal of Afro-American Issues
Black Family Violence
The Black Family and the Black Woman
The Western Journal of Black Studies
UCS Human Services Directory
Fanon Center Journal
The Physician and the Mental Health of the Child: Assessing development and treating disorders within a family context
The Black Family
Mental Health and People of Color
Black Family International Journal
Counseling the Culturally Different
The Black Family
Mental Health and Black Offenders
Research and Training Activities (RTA) of the Program for Research on Black Americans (PRBA).
Adolescents and Their Families
Mental Health in Black America
Ethnic Populations Mental Health Services in Santa Clara County
Sociological Abstracts
Black American Families, 1965-1984
Research Activity Memorandum
Black Americans and White Racism
Youth Information Resources
Mental Health

Characteristics of Black Clients that Influence Utilization of Mental Health Services

Following their book "Racism and Mental Health", the authors here re-examine the intersections of racism and mental health, adding sexism as another divisive issue that profoundly affects mental health. The book aims to offer fresh perspectives on contemporary controversial issues, including: interracial adoptions, teenage motherhood, gender bias in mental health diagnosis and therapy, prisons used as substitutes for hospitals, homeless families, and increasing violence in the home and on the streets.

Understanding the Black Family

This new bibliography offers access to journal articles, books and book chapters, doctoral dissertations and masters theses, government and university reports, and other materials. It covers an extended range of topics and encompasses recent work in the social sciences and health sciences, as well as the human services profession. The bibliographic section presents more than 1,100 numbered citations arranged alphabetically by author, with entries keyed to both broad topic categories and specific subjects. A classified index, with titles, lists works by category and subject, and a key word index cross-references nearly one thousand words that appear in entry titles.

Mental Health, Racism And Sexism

This volume presents along-overdue "road map" for providing affordable and comprehensive mental health services to children and youth of all races, cultures, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Incorporating the diverse perspectives of parents, policy makers, practitioners, administrators, and researchers, this groundbreaking work discusses conceptual framework: a new paradigm for comprehensive, individualized, family-focused, and culturally competent mental health services for young children and adolescents; system development at federal, state, and local levels: the planning, financing, and structure of various government and community-based initiatives, including the Ventura County (CA), the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Mental Health Services Program for Youth, and the Annie E. Casey Foundation systems of care; management issues: case management, human resource development, financing, service coordination mechanisms, and outcome assessment techniques; family involvement: a historical framework and practical guidelines for promoting family involvement and collaboration at the system and service delivery levels; and service delivery: new service delivery approaches for children and youth with serious challenges and multiple needs. Children's Mental Health provides articulate guidance and critical support for planning, administering, and implementing improved systems of mental health care for children. Policy makers, professionals, and parents will welcome the long-awaited insight and information that this volume delivers.

Primary Prevention Approaches to the Development of Mental Health Services for Ethnic Minorities

task panel reports submitted to the president's commission on mental health

Peterson's Graduate Programs in the Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences 1996

Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research

A holistic view of the multiple dimensions of black family life is offered in this resource. Practical steps for establishing, organizing, and maintaining a thriving family life ministry in local congregations; models of churches engaged in ministry to black families and ideas for establishing critical links and partnerships with local and federal agencies. It also includes non-profits, and for-profit resources and the contribution of many experts in a variety of fields, bringing together years of professional experience, faith in Jesus Christ, and a determination to tackle the problems facing our families.

The Help Book

Continuing the work started in the highly successful original edition, this revised and updated major work explores issues relevant to the culturally different in the United States and cuts across all ethnic/racial minorities. It is divided into three parts covering issues and concepts in cross-cultural counseling, counseling individual populations and critical incidents in cross-cultural counseling. Specifically, the conceptual framework is provided to aid in understanding the minority experience in the U.S., the role counseling has played with respect to larger societal forces, and the practice of cross-cultural counseling in mental health agencies, industries, public schools and correctional settings. Additionally, specific minority groups are given individual treatment to contrast similarities and differences. One note—major revisions to this edition (approximately 80%) are the result of current changes in the field and the authors' rethinking of earlier models of multicultural counseling.

Model Programs in Child and Family Mental Health

The Psychosocial Development of Minority Group Children

A collection of essays and articles on issues that affect African American families, including such matters as sexual harassment, health care, interracial marriage, and AIDS

Second Symposium for Mental Health Professionals of Color, October 12-13, 1995, the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, MA

Spirituality and the Black Helping Tradition in Social Work

Graduate students depend on this series and ask for it by name. Why? For over 30 years, it's been the only one-stop source that supplies all of their information needs. The new editions of this six-volume set contain the most comprehensive information available on more than 1,500 colleges offering over 31,000 master's, doctoral, and professional-degree programs in more than 350 disciplines. New for 1997 -- Non-degree-granting research centers, institutes, and training programs that are part of a graduate degree program. Five discipline-specific volumes detail entrance and program requirements, deadlines, costs, contacts, and special options, such as distance learning, for each program, if available. Each Guide features The Graduate Adviser, which discusses entrance exams, financial aid, accreditation, and more. The most exhaustive compilation of more than 10,000 programs in subject areas ranging from applied arts, architecture, and Hispanic studies to political science.

Multidimensional Ministry for Today's Black Family

Children's Mental Health

Blacks in Corrections

Black Newspapers Index

This volume is the product of a combined effort to find programs of service delivery that demonstrably treat the varieties of mental health problems of children and their families. The Section on Clinical Child Psychology (APA, Clinical Psychology Section I) and the Division of Child, Youth, and Family Services (APA, Division 37) established a task force whose mission was to identify, provide recognition for, and disseminate information on such programs. Their findings are presented here. The opening chapter and each section overview chapter provide orientations to the program descriptions and examine characteristics of exemplary interventions. The targeted problems include: child abuse and neglect, school adjustment problems, social problem-solving problems, autism and developmental disabilities, conduct disorders and severe emotional problems, children affected by disasters and trauma, children whose parents are divorced, children of teenage parents, family dysfunction and parent-child relationships, oppositional defiant disorder, and attention deficit disorder. Settings for interventions in the model programs include: schools, mental health centers and family guidance clinics, hospitals and pediatric practices, group homes and sheltered workshops, community centers, family homes, summer camps, and coordinated systems of care. The 18 programs described demonstrate the rationale for their interventions, their targeted populations, the type of staff and personnel, various programmatic interventions, aspects of the problems, implementation of interventions, and how the programs have been evaluated. The needs for improved mental health services remain strong. The supporting organizations and the members of the Task Force intend for the product of this project to be helpful in providing models for meeting those needs.

Marriage and Family Development

The Journal of Afro-American Issues

Black Family Violence

Includes information on acculturation, alcoholism, American Indians, Asian and Pacific Americans, bilingualism, blacks, Chicanos, Chinese, Cuban Americans, cultural pluralism, culture and mental health, the family, folk healing, Hispanic culture, immigration, Japanese, melting pot theory, Philipinos, Puerto Ricans, racism, stereotypes, traditional healing, Vietnamese, role of women, etc.

The Black Family and the Black Woman

The Western Journal of Black Studies

This volume details the self-reported stress of being Black in the United States, and documents the cultural resources African Americans draw upon to overcome adversity and maintain a positive, healthy perspective on life. Based on data obtained from a United States National Survey of Black Americans, the book first discusses psychological and sociological factors affecting life satisfaction. Contributors then explore how these psychosocial factors contribute to such health problems as alcoholism and hypertension. The volume concludes with an examination of strategies Black Americans use in their attempt to solve life problems. These include: prayer; avoidance; active problem-solving; and seeking help from family, community

UCS Human Services Directory

Fanon Center Journal

The Physician and the Mental Health of the Child: Assessing development and treating disorders within a family context

Gathering together scholars from across the social sciences, Black Family Violence is one of the first books to chart new courses for research, while simultaneously serving as a fundamental introduction to family relationship issues in the study of black family life.

The Black Family

Mental Health and People of Color

First published in 1999. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informa company.

Black Family International Journal

Sponsored by the National Council on Family Relations, the Sourcebook of Family Theory and Research is the reference work on theory and methods for family scholars and students around the world. This volume provides a diverse, eclectic, and paradoxically mature approach to theorizing and demonstrates how the development of theory is crucial to the future of family research. The Sourcebook reflects an interactive approach that focuses on the process of theory building and designing research, thereby engaging readers in "doing" theory rather than simply reading about it. An accompanying Web site, <http://www.ncfr.org/sourcebook>, offers additional participation and interaction in the process of doing theory and making science.

Counseling the Culturally Different

CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences. The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1,800+ serials publications, and also provides abstracts of books, book chapters, dissertations, and conference papers.

The Black Family

Mental Health and Black Offenders

Research and Training Activities (RTA) of the Program for Research on Black Americans (PRBA).

Adolescents and Their Families

"[The] guide will be useful in large reference collections and in professional collections in school library media centers, medical centers, and youth services organizations." Reference Books Bulletin

Mental Health in Black America

Ethnic Populations Mental Health Services in Santa Clara County

Sociological Abstracts

Black American Families, 1965-1984

Research Activity Memorandum

Black Americans and White Racism

Youth Information Resources

Mental Health

In the black helping tradition, spirituality is the sense of the sacred and divine. It is a critical value deeply rooted in the African worldview and used by African Americans as a tool for survival. Provocative and well-written, this is the first book to draw a relationship between social work, spirituality, and the helping tradition among African Americans. Offering a wealth of historical detail and narrative, Elmer and Joanne Martin explore spirituality as a foundation for understanding people of African descent and as a skill to evoke self-help. This ground-breaking book raises compelling questions about the limitations and strengths of mainstream social work in issues of black spirituality and its role in strengthening the black community today.

ROMANCE ACTION & ADVENTURE MYSTERY & THRILLER BIOGRAPHIES & HISTORY CHILDREN'S YOUNG ADULT FANTASY HISTORICAL FICTION HORROR LITERARY FICTION NON-FICTION SCIENCE FICTION