In their new Keeper roles, these extraordinary women must balance the fate of the world with their desires... Lust. Beauty and the Chief Civilizations come and go and they don't always go quietly. In our global civilization, the consequence of it all crashing is going to be far-reaching, and with nowhere to hide. With so many moving parts and a lack of long-term stewardship by our leaders, odds are good that you will want to make at least a few preparations but the question you often ask is: how? That's where I come in. In Beyond Collapse, we not only get you prepared for such an event, but we also help you and your fellow survivors come together, defend one another, preserve what may be lost and rebuild civilization together. Unlike most books of this type, we don't require a paramilitary mindset, tinfoil headgear, bunkers, or living "off-grid." Everything in here is geared towards gaining skills and resources that are just as useful and socially acceptable in peaceful times as they will be when society and civilization crashes. You will find this book useful for beginners, or those who have been preparing for a long time. The best part is, you will find it useful even if civilization holds up just fine.

Lady in Red

J. M. Adovasio has spent the last thirty years at the center of one of our most fiery scientific debates: Who were the first humans in the Americas, and how and when did they get there? At its heart, The First Americans is the story of the revolution in thinking that Adovasio and his fellow archaeologists have brought about, and the firestorm it has ignited. As he writes, "The work of lifetimes has been put at risk, reputations have been damaged, an astounding amount of silliness and even profound stupidity has been taken as serious thought, and always lurking in the background of all the argumentation and gnashing of tenets has been the question of whether the field of archaeology can ever be pursued as a science.”

The saga continues with Gabbi and Scott's story. Gabbi has always believed she grew up in the shadow of her best friend, Kate, but she was the only one who thought so. If you asked anyone who knew her, they would tell you Gabbi was a free-spirit-adventurous, competitive, stunningly beautiful, and funny. When she was six years old, she met Kate Baum and Scotty Berger. The three became inseparable, lifelong friends. Secretly Gabbi knew then that she wanted to marry Scotty. If only she'd trusted her instincts. Instead she married someone else. They broke each other's hearts back when they were in college. Now that she was getting divorced, Scott seems determined to give their relationship another try. They'd worked so hard to get back to a place where they could be friends again. But what if the same thing happens, and they fail? They weren't the only two people hurt the first time; their families were hurt too. Lingered over both families is the mystery behind the fire that burned Kate's house to the ground. Who set it? And who were they trying to hurt? Kate? Or her grandfather, Gus? Scott is determined to find whoever did it, and do everything he can to keep his loved ones safe. What danger will that bring the very people he's trying to protect?

All-Purpose Tabs

"This book is about the people I met as I crisscrossed Australia by train and plane and L-plated car: the undefeated dreamers and wild-hearted romantics, the obsessed hobbyists and beautiful failures. It is about heroes and legends, illusions, delusions and hope, and one or two men with shit for brains who ought to be locked up." As anyone who's ever read Mark Dapin's column and features in Good Weekend knows, he's an immensely funny, acute and vivid observer of Australian life. In Strange Country, he takes us on a journey through a very different Australia - a country that's eccentric, puzzling, big-hearted, small-minded, nostalgic and sometimes just plain mad. From the last travelling boxing tent to feral urban sewer rats to Vietnam Veteran bikies and the annual Parkes Elvis Festival, his writing illuminates the stranger side of Australian life in a travel book like no other.

The Third Gift

For many, Harold Thomas is best known for his practical wisdom in business; founding and building Idaho's Trusjoist Corporation, whose success spanned just over four decades. Others would point to his legacy of philanthropy. Still others might cite his key role in the Quest Aircraft Company and development of the unique "Kodiak" for international humanitarian applications. Insiders might emphasize his love of family and others. Harold wondered why he didn't know more about his own family history. It was a little perplexing. He has wanted to share more of his adventure so that his friends and family didn't experience the same loss. His life has been a fascinating journey through the business world, the worlds of aviation, missions and philanthropy; and the story is finally told here. This isn't simply a story of success and philanthropy, but a story to encourage family and friends to trust God and give themselves to His adventure for their lives!
